

Lutheran Campus Ministry at West Virginia University
LutheranMountaineer.org @LCMWVU

It starts at a table: the meal is set, our community gathers, and Christ is present. The world around us continues to change, but Christ's presence remains constant as young adults find a faith home away from home at your Lutheran Campus Ministry at West Virginia University.

Sometimes we first meet around the Lord's Table, different in religious affiliation and experience, united by the holy bread and wine we share. Other times the connection grows around our dinner table, where strangers become friends, and outsiders are reminded that they are never alone. The Holy Spirit uses these tables at your LCM@WVU to proclaim God's grace-filled promises to students seeking peace, community, absolution, and nourishment. These young adults are evangelical, Presbyterian, Catholic, Episcopalian, Baptist, unsure, atheist, and yes, even some Lutherans. Yet around the Table they are one, united in Christ.

As an independent, stand-alone campus ministry funded by the generosity of individuals and congregations, when the Spirit nudges young adults toward something holy, your support allows the Lutheran Campus Ministry at WVU to offer a listening ear, community, study, meaningful worship, mentorship, and a home-cooked meal.

Supported with your prayers, encouragement, and generosity, we are honored to partner with you in proclaiming the Good News of Jesus Christ during these college years, as God transforms our lives and the communities the Holy Spirit will lead our young adults to next. Thanks be to God as we witness to and through young adults here at West Virginia University and throughout Appalachia! +
